MR. MORTON GOES EAST WILL BRING BACK BRIDE

Lindley Calhoun Morton, sales manager of the Southwestern Portland Cement company for Arizona and New Mexico, will leave this evening for Salisbury, Conn. During his recent visit east his engagement to Miss Ruth Salisbury Goddard, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John Calvin Goddard of Salisbury, was announced, and close friends of Mr. Morton believe that when he returns in January he will be accompanied by his bride.

The popular clubman, however, refused to discuss the subject of his marriage, beyond stating that the wedding day had not been set. When the engagement was made public, it was understood that the wedding would be an event of summer. That it will take place sooner, seems to be the general belief, and local society will be delighted to welcome the charming young woman as one of its members.

ARIZONA CLUB AGAIN A SOCIETY FACTOR

The Arizona club is a leading factor in the social life of Phoenix. This was demonstrated last evening when the club played host at a brilliant ball and surpassed any event of the season. For the first time in more than a year the organization entertained with other than a stag affair, and the success recalled the old days when the club figured prominently in the winter's gaiety.

A canvas dancing floor was laid in the billiard room, and here more than two hundred members of the fashionable set enjoyed one of the most delightful functions in the social history of the city. The music was exceptionally good. Supper was served at midnight.

NEW SAXON SHIPMENT ARRIVED YESTERDAY

C. L. Fauber, the local agent for the Saxon car, is a happy man these days, the reason for his exuberance being the fact that he yesterday received a carload of those famous little machines, the shipment consisting of three six-cylinder touring cars and three four-cylinder roadsters. The Saxons were unloaded just in time for Thanksgiving, and one of the sixes was soon in the hands of Commissioner Joseph Cope, who had previously placed an order for one.

Mr. Fauber has another shipment on the way, and this will arrive sometime early in December. The new lot will contain several of the popular six-cylinder roadsters, which is a brand-new model.

Miss Goddard visited here last summer, the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. L. Allen, and has a host of friends and admirers in Phoenix. Mr. Morton is president of the Bachelor's club, and also belongs to the Country club and Arizona club.

FALTIN AWAITS FATAL DROP AT FLORENCE

Carl Peterson's Slayer Will Be Given Last Minute Law Allows Him, His Execution Taking Place Late Tomorrow

There appears to be nothing but a few hours between William Faltin, the murderer of Carl Peterson, and death on the scaffold at Florence. All arrangements have been made for his execution, which may take place at any time tomorrow between ten o'clock and four in the afternoon. Warden Sims in a telephone message to Attorney Wiley Jones yesterday morning said that he would allow the condemned man all the time possible so that the hanging would not take place until shortly before 4 o'clock. The statement was part of a reply to a telephonic inquiry by the attorney general as to whether an eleventh hour attempt would be made to evade the hanging. The warden indicated that there would be none. The black-bordered invitations to the event have already been sent out.

There has been a rumor that a move would be made at the last moment to delay the execution by an affidavit of the probable insanity of the condemned man, such as was made in the case of Kermee. But it is not believed that anyone interested in the postponement of the execution would have the hardihood to take such a step.

At a meeting of the board of pardons and paroles yesterday, Messrs. Struckmeyer and Jenckes the attorneys for Faltin, submitted affidavits of the perjury of Louis Beckton, one of the witnesses for the state at the trial of Faltin three years ago. Beckton, who was himself awaiting trial for murder, testified that Faltin had confessed to him that he had murdered Carl Peterson. These affidavits did not move the board. Whether or not they in themselves might have impressed the board, Attorney General Jones said that without the testimony of Beckton, the proof of the guilt of Faltin was sufficiently conclusive.

The following appeal to the people of Arizona, regarded as the last effort that will be made in behalf of Faltin was issued yesterday by his attorneys, Struckmeyer and Jenckes:

This is the eve of Thanksgiving. The people of this state, as of the nation, are about to lift their eyes upward to the Great Omnipotent, to the Giver of Life, and offer to Him a prayer of thanks for all earthly benefits bestowed. On the day following when hardly this humble prayer has left the lips, the sovereign people of the state of Arizona unmindful and so soon forgetful of the great blessing for which they have so lately given thanks to their Creator, are about to take away the life of a fellow being, are about to destroy that which was not created by them and which it is not in their power to restore. Can the people of the state in one breath offer thanks to the Giver of Life for their life and happiness and at the same time calmly and deliberately contemplate the destruction of the life of another? Verily it would make of the Thanksgiving season but a hollow mockery.

William Faltin has been decreed to die, to die on Friday next. On Thursday when all men rejoice, he alone in the state of Arizona lies in a lonesome cell to brood upon his end, which is scheduled to occur at ten o'clock the next morn. He is in his lonesome cell, friendless and not a soul to pity him nor to speak words of encouragement and hope. To him all hope is lost but one, that you, the court of last appeal, the sovereign people of the state of Arizona, will intercede in his behalf. Have pity on him! As you yourselves pray to God for mercy in your time of trouble, so he, William Faltin, now prays to you for mercy. In a democracy such as ours the will of the people is the initial and ultimate power. Your will alone is law. Before the life of William Faltin is taken, we wish to place before you, the sovereign people, an appeal to spare his life and to place before you the true facts that you may determine his life shall be by of taken. This appeal can only be made broadcast through the courtesy of the press which generous editors will no doubt extend.

The law of the state of Arizona today permits life to be forfeited for life where the offender has been guilty of a willful, deliberate and premeditated killing of a human being, but only where he has willfully, deliberately and premeditatedly killed, may his life be taken by the state. William Faltin, guilty or innocent of the killing of Carl Peterson, at least was not guilty of willful, deliberate and premeditated killing.

The facts and circumstances surrounding the claimed killing do not permit this to be true. This being so, we assert that for the state to deprive William Faltin of his life under such facts and circumstances would in itself be a willful, deliberate and premeditated killing by the state and one which would leave a stain upon the fair name of Arizona. To place the facts before the people, we make this statement:

William Faltin and Carl Peterson lived on Faltin's ranch near Phoenix. Carl Peterson was killed on the night of the 5th of September, 1912, about 2:30 in the morning. There were no eye witnesses to the killing. The evidence is wholly circumstantial. Therefore, do these circumstances show a willful, deliberate and premeditated killing? Most emphatically no. These facts are further admitted: Carl Peterson was asleep in the one-roomed shack on the place which contained two cots or beds, one for Peterson and one for Faltin. Faltin had been irrigating. He came into the room from the field. A quarrel ensued; Carl Peterson was killed. How was he killed? Not with

STOCKDALE TALKS TO PHOENIX AD CLUB

A number of the members of the Phoenix Ad club gathered at the Hotel Adams at noon yesterday to be present at a luncheon given by that body to Frank Stockdale of Chicago, who is connected with the Associated Ad Clubs of the World.

In the talk which Mr. Stockdale gave the members of the local club he advocated that its members get behind a movement looking toward the holding of what he termed a business men's educational convention in the city of Phoenix next spring. It would be the purpose of the convention to interest the big business men of this section of the country, as well as other states, in the subject of advertising and kindred topics.

EVIDENCE OF REVIVAL OF MINING INTEREST

As part of the evidence of mining revivals in the northern districts is quoted in the application for patent on mining claims in the Martinez district of Yavapai county, by Jerry Sullivan yesterday. Loaded with papers and with fees, Sullivan visited the land office and formally asked Uncle Sam for 61 acres of rich mineral land.

Applications for patents on mining claims undergo a big impetus at this season of the year, which is popular on account of the fact, if patent is made, the owner avoids the necessity of doing assessment work for the year beginning January 1.

GRADUATES OF MINING SCHOOL MEET IN ADAMS

Although a college reunion was not on the program at the Hotel Adams last evening, one of those highly interesting affairs took place at that hostelry.

F. O. Williamson, of Chicago; B. A. Pickard, of Phoenix; A. C. Horton, of the surveyor general's office, and K. E. Koons, of the state land office, comprised the little coterie that gathered in the lobby and swapped stories about the Michigan School of Mines.

Although Houghton is a long way from Phoenix, and the weather at this time of year is slightly different, they made up for that in breathing the old atmosphere, and fanning about the days when they delved in books, and holes in the earth, and did other things which young men in college are prone to do.

TWO ADDRESSES AT THE TRINITY PRO-CATHEDRAL

Special Thanksgiving services will be held at Trinity Pro-Cathedral this morning at 10:30. Two stirring addresses will be important parts of the program. Judge Joseph H. Kibbey will tell the reasons for Thanksgiving in the nation. Bishop Julius V. Atwood will speak on reasons for Thanksgiving in the church. There will be an offering for the benefit of the Associated Charities and special music by the choir.

From the daylight into the daylight!

(5-From a daylight factory)

THOSE who step each morning into the Sterling Factory do not exchange the daylight of the open streets for the musty gloom of some dark corner.

They come into kitchens flooded with light—kitchens as sunny as modern construction can make them.

From this clean, bright home Sterling comes to you—a pure, finely-flavored confection.

This thought, no doubt, will reassure you in looking for the 7th point of Sterling excellence.

Customs Change—The Spirit Remains

In the days of the Pilgrim Fathers, who first established our Day of Thanksgiving, the big open fireplace with its monstrous logs and crackling warmth gave eloquent testimony of that love of comfortable home-life, so characteristic of the American people.

The Gas Furnace

is the successful culmination of a centuries-old endeavor to achieve an ideal heating system. It gives all the warmth and coziness of the oldtime fireplace, without any of its disadvantages or dangers. There is no "fire risk;" neither is there any of the disagreeable work of taking out ashes or shivering around "building a fire"—just comfort to the utmost, without worry, without work. The turn of a key produces an even heat of any desired temperature. More than 140 gas furnaces are now in use in Phoenix.

Turn these cold, raw mornings and evenings into enjoyable warmth and comfort. Let us install a Gas Furnace in your home on 30 days' free trial. Unless it is perfectly satisfactory, there will be no charge for the furnace or installation.
